CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Four Generations of Family Gather To Extend Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bastin.

The golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bastin was beautifully and approximately celebrated at their home on top of Hall's Gap on last Tuesday, August 8th. All of their nine living children were present except two who were unavoidably detained, and the day was spent in a happy family reunion, all joining in felicitations and congratulations to this popular couple who have passed the golden milestone together as they have journeyed along life's pathway, hand in hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Bastin were married in Lincoln county fifty years ago, by Rev. Jared and have made their home here ever since. They have had a very happy married life. Ten children were born to their union of whom nine are living and these and families of their own, go to make up a large circle of loved ones to call them father and mother and grandfather and grandmother. There are 38 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. In all there were 52 present on this happy occasion and a fine, old-fashioned country dinner was spread, with Mr. Bastin at the head of the table and Mrs. Bastin at the foot.

Many beautiful presents of gold and silver were brought to Mr. and Mrs. Bastin as testimonials to the love in which they are held, among them a gold watch, a handsome gold headed walking cane and other useful gifts.

The children, grandchildren and their children and relatives present were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Bastin and daughter Mrs. Lee H. Mitchell and her two children, of Pittsburg, Ky., the latter being the great grandchildren of Mr. and Mrs. Bastin; Mrs. Emil Baer and daughter, of Baraboo, Wisconsin; Mrs. Wm. Danavert and three children of Fort McCoy, Fla.; S. L. Bastin, wife and two children of East Bernstadt, Ky.; Mrs. James Boone, her husband and children, of this county; Mrs. James Hiett, her husband and children, of this county and Mrs. P. H. Williams, and children of Johnson county. Two of their daughters, Mrs. Charles Daves of Stanford, and Mrs. J. W. Hall of Lewis, Kansas, were absent on account of illness in their families but the former was represented by her daughter, Miss Florence Daves.

Mr. Bastin's brother, A. H. Bastin, of Lancaster, accompanied by his wife and children, Henly Bastin and wife, Ross Bastin and wife, and Clinton, Holbert and Miss Mamie Eastin, all of Lancaster, were also present, and J. S. Young and wife and Joseph Gerkey, of this county.

The occasion was a most joyous one for all, and each one left with the heartfelt wish that they will all assemble again to celebrate the diamond wedding celebration of this popular couple, in which the host of their friends and loved ones of Mr. and Mrs. Bastin all over Lincoln and elsewhere will sincerely unite.

The driver did not know the little boy was injured. His little brother was with him but was so frightened did not tell Mr. Carter that Albert was dead. The boy is bruised from hips to top of his head, the wagon wheel apparently scraping one side of his face. Strange as it is the boy is still alive.

NARROW ESCAPE

For Number of Persons when Cogwheel on Separator Broke.

Last week while the threshing machine outfit of Bartels and Geiszl of the East End was at work on the farm of David Scott, near Goshen a cogwheel on the separator broke and the machinery was badly damaged. Mr. Scott was sitting within a few feet of the separator when the accident occurred and a number of children were playing nearby, and they had a very narrow escape from serious injury and perhaps death as the machinery caused many pieces of the casing to break and fly in every direction, some of them being hurled over a hundred feet away. It is almost a miracle that some of the flying metal did not strike Mr. Scott or the children who were so close by when the accident occurred.

The automobilist had a new machine and was as proud of it as the small boy is of his first boots. After entering a nice long stretch of road he spied a wagon descending a hill nearly a mile away. Thinking to try his horn he started a continual "honk honk" and kept it up until the 20 year old Dobbin, was utterly oblivious to long distance warning as his master, slowly turned out to the road as if meeting autos were a part of his life. The driver, at passing said: "Mister you lost your horn that time."

MONTGOMERY—BUCHANAN

Popular Young Couple Are Married At Crab Orchard.

We had the pleasure of attending the marriage of Miss Lala Belle Montgomery to Mr. Charles Buchanan, of Louisville, Ky., at the country home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Street. It has become a stereotyped phrase to say, "The groom is rich and handsome and the bride beautiful and accomplished, but we will only say, that a more attractive couple never stood before the altar. The wedding march was played by Mrs. Allie Pettus, and a short and impressive ceremony was performed by Elder J. G. Livingston. After which dinner was served. The only comment we will make on it is, it was superintended by Mrs. Ora Street the bride's mother assisted by Mrs. M. E. Fish, of Crab Orchard. All who know these elegant ladies know what this means. There were present only a few of their intimate friends.

If there is anything in stock, we will say this young couple are thoroughbreds, the bride being a grand-daughter of the late Dr. Thomas Montgomery, of Stanford, and a lineal descendant of General Montgomery, of Revolutionary fame. The groom's father is W. K. Buchanan and his mother was Bettie Ashley Lewis. He is a lineal descendant of the Highland Chieftain Buchanan who fought in the ranks of Sir William Wallace at the bloody slaughter of Falkirk and Kambuskenneth.

One part of the bride's education is perfect as for a fine cook she can't be beaten in Kentucky for morality the groom has no superior. They had been sweethearts from childhood, and no ship laden with over's quarrel ever left their port.

They were married at 2:30 P. M., after which dinner was served then they took the five o'clock train for Louisville where they will make their future home.

I like to forget to say the bride was dressed in white, and received many beautiful presents. In conclusion as to this dear couple will say that may He who holds us in the hollow of his hand make them an object of special care and may their future life be such that when the final trump shall sound they may be permitted to eat of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God. A FRIEND.

Twenty-five thousand people attended the Blue Grass fair last Thursday and the crowd was almost as large Friday, notwithstanding the terrific heat. The man with the flying machine amazed everyone the show of stock was splendid and altogether the fair was a tremendous success in every way. Nothing too good can be said of Secretary J. J. Shouse and his untiring energy, which made it what it was.

A primary will be called to nominate a democratic candidate for judge of the court of appeals in this district at the time of the regular November. Judge John D. ### Peculiar Firm Names.

"In Honolulu," writes a New York Sun correspondent, "I saw a few interesting signboards evincing Oriental enterprise. One was that of an ambitious firm, 'On, On & Co.' Another was that of a ladies' tailor, 'Hook On A third stood for a dealer in foods 'Ah Chew.' On my way home through Texas I came into touch with the two law firms named below: 'Saner & Saner,' 'Head, Hare & Head.' In such harmony do the celestial orbits move and give voice to their delightful consonance."

WILL IT LAST?

"Why did Mrs. Flimflit insist on taking Mr. Slimoodle for her second husband?"

"Because of her superstitious fancy. She noticed that she nearly always won when she met him at a bridge party, and concluded he was a mascot."

Coins Turned to Snakes.

A money trick of Hindu jugglers invariably causes great amusement to every one who sees it except the victim of the joke. The juggler takes three copper coins and places them in the palm of some one in the group of spectators, bidding him hold them as tightly as he can. By and by it seems to the holder of the coins that they are swelling and growing hot. They seem to be moving about. He holds his hand closed as long as he can and then opens it, always with a gasp of fright; for there wriggling about are three tiny snakes.—New York Tribune.

The best magazine in the world is the Saturday Evening Post. It has more good, high class short fiction than any other magazine published and is issued once a week. All the ladies know what the Ladies Home Journal is; and it's now issued twice a month. Let the Interior Journal order either or both of these for you, or send in your renewal of subscription. It can save you money.

Spinach and lettuce will endure a good deal of frost.

Do not wait until it is too late. Have your seed tested at once.

The Russian sunflower is the most productive. It is also very hardy.

There are over 170,000,000 of acres under wheat cultivation in the world. Market everything while it is fresh. You will get a better price and hold your customers better.

Too much emphasis cannot be laid on good seed as an essential to success in market gardening.

Keep up a rotation of crops with clover, and every year apply as much fertilizer as is taken out of the soil.

Wood ashes are one of the best of fertilizers, while coal ashes are valuable for lightening heavy, clayey soils.

All clay lands need clover roots to penetrate and loosen their compact strata, and to supply vegetable matter.

The best and most nutritious forage crop is sweet corn; and it also makes the greatest growth of foliage to the amount of stalk.

The first silo was built about 1870. It is hard for those who use them now to understand how the world got along without silos so long.

To prevent backaches a Maine farmer has invented a jointed hoe to throw potatoes into a net with which it is provided as they are dug.

In itself the small farm does not possess any particular merit. It is only when it is thoroughly tilled that it becomes meritorious or profitable.

Lime is often of wonderful value in a garden which has been heavily manured for years. It will liberate the insoluble plant food which has been deposited year after year in the manure.

IN MEMORY OF BRO. BURKE.

After a long pilgrimage in this life the heavenly father saw best to take in his garner a grain that was good and ripe.

He had reached the age of 87 years and they were full of good deeds and words for the Master and he never grew tired of praying the Lord, for he looked for him above where all in love. So he could say with Paul, I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course henceforth there will be a crown of righteousness laid up for me in the last day.

He fell asleep in Jesus July 18th without a struggle, and sang and talked sitting in a chair the evening before he passed over the river. He had always said he did not want to be set up with nor struggle at death so God saw fit to grant his wish and not one night was he watched over only by the heavenly host, and the strong arm of God that closed his eyes in death. And may that mighty one be with his beloved wife and bring comfort to her sad heart in the prayer of her daughter.

G. C. HELM.

Another Tribute.

Bro. H. M. Burke died July 18th. He had lived to the ripe old age of 81. He joined the Methodist church at the age of 16 and was converted two years later. About 1849 he joined the Baptist church and was shortly after ordained to preach. He continued in the work as long as his health permitted often working for a mere pittance, some times receiving as little as $35 a year for his services.

He had been in very delicate health for about 20 years and has received help from the Baptist Minister's Aid society. He had performed more marriage ceremonies than any other minister in this part of the country. He enjoyed the respect and esteem of both old and young white and black in the community where he lived. Being one of the most earnest, devoted, consistent and liberal Christians I ever knew. He was even ready to join in with any denomination to uphold the standard of Christ and bring sinners to repentance. While differing with other Christians on some doctrinal points he was ever ready to let the mantle of charity bridge these differences and join hands in the fight against sin and the devil. If our country could have more Bro. Burks it would mean the uplifting of our community.

The high esteem in which he was held was proved by the large crowd that attended his funeral which was preached by Bro. Surles at the Baptist church in Hustonville. He was buried in the Hustonville cemetery. He leaves a wife and several children.

WANDERINGS IN THE EAST END

I. J., Field Man Writes Again of His Travels Out on Crab Orchard Route No. 1.

After another day's work we have fully covered Route No. 1 out of Crab Orchard. This route is carried by clever Milton Condor, who is a typical representative of Uncle Sam. The patrons along the route are very complimentary when discussing their present mail facilities and the dispatch and promptness of their postal official. This route has 187 boxes at present and handled over 8,000 pieces of mail during May. Between lots of sandy road and plenty of mud in winter, also some steep hills, this route is a tough proposition but Condor "gets there just the same."

We stopped at the Flat Woods school and had a short visit. This is near the Pulaski line and is taught by Gene McWilliams who is a promising young pedagogue, and will make his mark some day.

Mr. C. F. Wheeldon, of near O. K., showed us a fine old cherry bureau. It is hand made, posts are carved and over a hundred years old. His son Roscoe Wheeldon, is a first class amateur cabinet maker, bookcase etc., showing him to be an adept Young Wheeldon will teach in the Waynesburg graded school this Fall. He is just 20 years of age.

Here in this Buck Creek country the farmers are raising lots of buckwheat. It is said to be a sure crop and fine to sow seed with, the buckwheat being an excellent nurse crop. We spent the night at the home of T. J. Gooch and family near Olive church. "Tommy" as he is known to his friends, is an all around farmer, and succeeds well in all he undertakes.

Next called on Mr. W. D. D. H. es whom we found to be an agreeable gentleman and an admirer of the I. J. He thinks it would be hard to find a better paper.

After a short drive we reached Waynesburg which is a live little place of some 100 inhabitants who are as good people as you will find anywhere. The three stores do a good business. James T. Baker's which is in charge of L. Foster, an experienced salesman, E. B. Caldwell and A. B. Morgan, being the others, all well stocked and thronged with customers. A nice Baptist church a new graded school building and last but not least, is the nice commodious concrete two story building in which is conducted the thriving business of the Waynesburg Deposit Bank, Stanley McIntosh Cashier. The planing mills belonging to H. H. Singleton turn out a nice product and much sought by farmers of south Lincoln. The hotel here is conducted by Mr. E. C. Jordan who is a clever mine host.

The lumber, tie and timber interests here, while not as extensively handled as formerly, are considered of much importance. R. Y. Ballard and E. C. Jordan getting the lion's share of the tie business.

Arriving in Buck Creek country at 6 P. M., we were cordially received by Took D. Lay, who is teaching the Chestnut ridge school. Here we spent the night.

In our canvass next day we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Mount Warren and wife who are fine folks. At noon we accepted the very cordial invitation of his brother, Milton Warren, to take dinner. The pleasant time spent at their hospitable home insures a pleasant memory with us.

In 1834, J. Ottenheimer, a German "colonization agent, founded Ottemheim. Here in the solitudes of a forest primeval these hardy German pioneers carved out a home and farmlands and now are prosperous. A nice little town of 100 souls is Ottemheim. There are three churches Catholic, Lutheran and Dutch Reformed, Father Leo, pastor of the first named, Rev. C. J. Mehtens the pastor of the Lutheran church has the nicest library we have ever seen. The Dutch Reformed has no pastor at present but hopes to get one soon. Two very good stores here, John Wentzel and the store conducted by W. T. White. Mr. White is conducting the public school, with an average attendance of fifty pupils, 100 being in the district. A new addition has recently been built under the supervision of Mr. Wm. Landgraf, which will comfortably accommodate the increasing attendance. This is one of the best districts in the county.

Mr. W. is teaching a good school and the patrons are satisfied. Chas. Enslin is putting up a new flouring mill which will have a capacity of 25 barrels per day. He will also grind buckwheat and bolt the flour. There are nine saw mills in operation in hearing of this place, Burton & Butts, Chas. Trub, Chas. Enslin, Butt and Dillon, John James, B. T. Russell, Christ Bliss, Elliott Bros.

John Jafer and Fred Tschanz have formed a partnership in butchering to supply the German settlement.

While at Adam Petrey's we were shown an old receipt reading thus: "This day received of William Long one hundred pounds which is in full for a tract of land sold by James Chandler and Thos. Harper to the said Long, of Orange county, Va., September 3, 1807. Attest: Francis Abrahams, H. Mallory. William Chandler."

The old document was in a bible which was owned by William Long, the grandfather of Mrs. Adam Petrey, deceased.

Mr. J. R. Russell showed us a collection of relics. One being a rocker made at Milledgeville sixty years ago, by Shelton Vaughn. At that time Judge John Edmonston and Green, and John Shaw were his apprentices to learn the cabinet maker's trade. We also saw the old deer gun and the knapsack which belonged to Arch Carson, who was a resident of Crab Orchard, and the father of W. A. Carson, of Stanford. Also some nice oil paintings which were brought here from Virginia over 100 years ago by one McWilliams. They are so finely executed that one will almost always say it is not the work of the brush.

Our canvass among the good German farmers found dozens of them already I. J. readers, those who were not, soon came into line.

After leaving Buck Creek we met Mr. L. D. Harney who kindly invited us to his home to spend the night. We soon were at his pleasant home where we enjoyed a good supper. Our host and his agreeable wife are very good people and know how to make a fellow feel at home. Mr. H. formerly lived at Lexington where he held a position of electrical engineer. We believe our host has the distinction of being the largest man in Lincoln county. He is over six feet tall, weighs 345 pounds, and his belt measures 56 inches.

Called at the Greenbrier school which is taught by Miss Ruby Carroll. Is a small district but the attendance is good. A nice county map of Kentucky done in colors which is a nice piece of work which was drawn by little Miss Mazie Braswell. Also some extra nice maps drawn last year by Miss Arva Leach, when this school was taught by Miss Maude Brown.

We also had a short visit to the Pleasant Point school which is taught by Mr. Elmer Gilliland. They have a nice school house and a mighty good school. One hundred pupils in the district with an attendance of over 60. Nice mottoes upon the walls inspire the pupils to better things. We enjoyed an old-fashioned spelling match between the boys and girls. The boys spelled well but the girls were easily the victors. The pupils, when dismissed, walked out in order. B. I. Blankenship.

Seemed to Give Him a New Stomach.

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Youngpeters Editor of the "Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

IN MEMORY OF JOE TAGUE PURDUM

Joe Tague Purdum the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Purdum died at his home in Moreland July, 17th 1911.

His funeral was preached at the Methodist church by his pastor, Rev. F. D. Palmeter, assisted by Rev. Jones pastor of the Baptist church at Stanford. His body was laid to rest in the cemetery near his home.

Joe was converted early in life and united with the Methodist church. He lived a bright Christian life and loved his church. For the past few years he was a great sufferer and during this last illness he became blind. Through it all he was patient and never uttered a word of complaint.

Too much could not be said of this pure young life, that has gone out of this world of pain and sorrow to enjoy heaven where he will never again feel pain and his eyes can behold the face of the Savior. Loved ones, remember his words of admonition to you, to live for Jesus and not for the things of this world, and so live that when ends life's little day Joe will welcome you at the portals of Heaven. By One Who Loved Him.
